The Best of Enemies Wed., Oct. 19 at 4:00 pm EST (discussion on Zoom - $5 per ticket)
 (pre-watch the movie on Amazon or many other streaming platforms.)

This movie is based on the true story of the unlikely relationship between Ann Atwater, an outspoken civil rights activist, and C.P. Ellis, a local Ku Klux Klan leader. During the racially charged summer of 1971, they come together to co-chair a community summit on the desegregation of schools in Durham, N.C.

APART Wed., Nov. 2 at 6:00 pm EST (at Paragon Theaters - $10 per ticket)

Since the beginning of the War on Drugs, the number of women in U.S. prisons has grown over 800%. The majority are mothers. Filmed over 3 ½ years, APART traces their steps as they reconstruct lives.

Redlining Wed., Nov. 9 at 6:00 pm EST (at Paragon Theaters - $10 per ticket)

This movie tells the national and local story of redlining, a practice which embedded racial segregation and inequality into the development of American cities and suburbs. This one-hour documentary tells the story of local families who were impacted by redlining, and the lasting effects of this federal policy on our region.

Movies That Matter is now named in memory of Steve Brazina, co-founder of this annual film series, long-time Holocaust Museum & Cohen Education Center docent, and former GenShoah of SWFL program chair.
